

Station Area Development Projects in Massachusetts

Last Updated: 6/13/2006 Compiled by the Office for Commonwealth Development, this list of proposed, pending and completed station area projects is based on information from: the Boston Redevelopment Authority website; the MBTA real estate division; private developer and municipal government websites; city and town planning departments; and a May 2006 report prepared for ULI Boston District Council entitled, "On the Right Track: Meeting Greater Boston's Transit and Land Use Challenges". To be included on this list, developments in the City of Boston must include at least 100,000 square feet of development and at least 50 units of housing. Development outside of the City of Boston and projects on surplus MBTA land may be of any size, however, the vast majority of these still include at least 50 units of housing. All developments must be located within 1/4 mile of a transit stop. We appreciate corrections and additions. Please send corrections and additions to ocd@state.ma.us.
